Hi

I'm sure many people will be putting the case for a ban of fracking and I support this totally. However I also know bad decisions are made especially when powerful vested interests are involved. So I suggest that anyone involved in approving fracking be held responsible and prosecuted with a view to both restitution and retribution. This includes directors of companies, politicians, scientists, lawyers. If this is beyond the scope of the inquiry, don't worry as it will eventually be the reaction of the public to the unfolding consequences of fracking and many other environmental betrayals. The Climate Court will be set up and justice will be served.

Yours sincerely

Blair McFarland.
